Update October 2017

Objective One: Eliminate unlawful discrimination, harassment and victimisation

Specific actions to address this objective this year

- This year the anti-bullying assemblies were conducted in November 2016 led by Mrs R Monk. Included in the assemblies was one prepared and presented by members of the student council that looked at diversity within the community and respect for difference. Age-related single sex assemblies continue to be held with a focus on relationships. A Pride pupil group has been set up in school with a focus on promoting respect for diversity among the pupil population.

Objective two: Advance equality of opportunity

Specific actions to address this objective this year

- Staff received the annual safeguarding training that helps them identify cases of neglect and disadvantage.
- Pupils with SEN are provided with appropriate support to enable them to access the curriculum, such as the use of scribes. Our SENCo has been trained in assessing access arrangements for exams so that pupils will be easily assessed for their needs.
- Pupils fasting during Ramadan this year during the hot summer months were allowed to rest in the hall during lunchtimes.
- Pupil performance by different groups is monitored and action taken when underperformance is identified. P&C governors committee monitors the academic and pastoral data to ensure equality of opportunity.
- In cases of recorded bullying and prejudicial bullying, pupils were picked up by pastoral staff and counselled or sanctioned as appropriate.
- HGS makes use of HR services from Browne Jacobson to ensure all new policies are compliant with equality legislation, including policies that relate to staffing matters.
- The F&GP committee receives a report from the SMT on the management of performance related pay for all staff to ensure equality of application of the policies.
- The school's accessibility policy ensures that the school is as fully accessible to protected groups as possible.
- Staff and pupils received training on raising awareness of LGBT issues, resulting in the setting up of a pupil group aimed at promoting respect for diversity in the pupil population

Objective three: Foster good relations

Specific actions to address this objective this year

- Pastoral data on detentions, isolations, exclusions and stage 5 removals is monitored by SMT and shared with P&C committee to ensure no group is overrepresented in the data.
- The school Newsletter keeps parents informed about school successes e.g. music, art, PE.
- HGS subscribes to Birmingham City Council School and Governor Support service which provides an independent mediator service where relationships between parents and school have broken down and need support.
