

CSE ; what do you remember?

CSE = Child Sexual Exploitation

Exploitation = using people or things

Staying safe

1. What does exploitation look like?
2. Consent
3. Healthy relationships

Some ground rules...

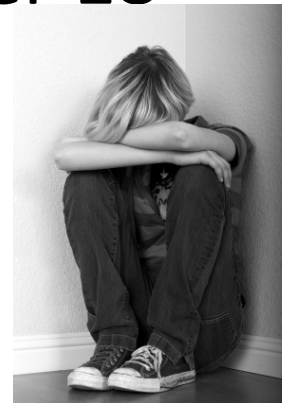

- We are respectful to one another
- We don't embarrass each other
- We don't talk about things that we have experienced personally
- We don't talk about "real people" who others may know

What does exploitation look like?

Some warning signs

- Receiving something: gifts, accommodation, money
- Power imbalance: threats, coercion, pressure
- Age gap – research shows that a two year gap is a cause for concern if one party is under 18
- Lack of choice or limited choices

It's all about choice

No freedom to choose = no choice

No choice = no consent

“If you loved me, you would!”

“If you want to stay here, you have to!”

“But I bought you those trainers!”

“Everyone else does it!”

“It's no big deal – why are you being so stupid?”

Consent – the legal stuff

- Need capacity to consent
- Consent can be withdrawn at any time
- Consent can only be given by choice
- Can't consent if you're under 13 (SOA 2003)

Would you like a cup of tea?

TH

Jay and Sammy

- Jay and Sammy are both 16. They agree to have sex.
- The next day, Jay wants to have sex again but Sammy doesn't want to.
- Jay tries to have sex with Sammy anyway

Has Sammy consented? What can Sammy do?

Zayn and Sara

- Zayn and Sara have been dating for a while.
- Zayn asks for a picture of Sara without her top on and she sends it to him.
- Later, Zayn asks Sara to have sex with him, but she doesn't want to.
- He tells her that he will send his mates the topless picture if she doesn't agree, so she says that she will.

Is anyone being exploited? Is Sara consenting?

Lou and Alex

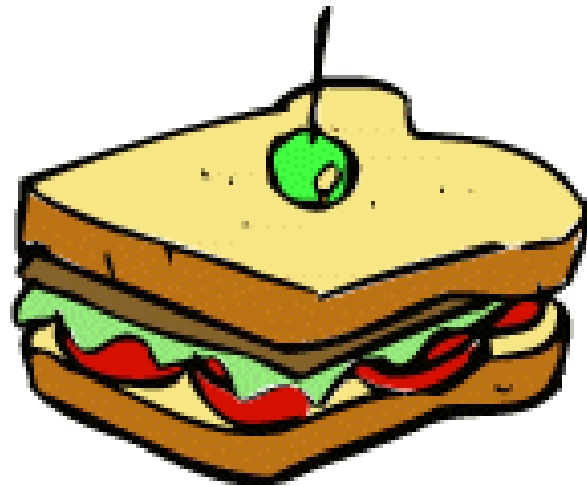

- Lou and Alex are married
- They decide to have sex but after a few minutes Lou asks Alex to stop
- Alex refuses to stop

Is what Alex did OK? Why or why not?

How about a sandwich?

Consent – things to remember:

- Your body – your choice
- Nobody has the right to decide what should happen to another person's body
- Consent has to be given freely and without pressure
- People have the right to change their minds at any time
- Not saying “no” isn't the same as saying “yes”
- People are different. Just because others do something, or say they do, it's fine if you don't want to!
- Consenting once doesn't mean somebody always has to consent
- If anybody involved feels uncomfortable or unhappy, something is wrong

True or false?

- If you try to kiss or touch someone and they don't put up a physical fight, they are definitely consenting.
- An adult in a relationship with another adult doesn't need to get consent for sex, especially if they're married.
- Once you've agreed to sexual contact with someone it's unreasonable to change your mind.
- If you do change your mind and the person you're with carries on touching or having sex with you, it's your own fault for agreeing in the first place.
- If someone gets drunk, passes out and another person does sexual things to them, it's the first person's fault for getting drunk in the first place.

My Dangerous Loverboy – pop video

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=YEgBx6qJMyA>

Can you tell whether the girl in the video is consenting to any of what happens to her?

If so, how?

Does she change her mind about what she is and isn't happy to do at all?

What does this mean for consent?
